HURT AT PARK

Mrs. Montgomery's Ribs Broken When Thrown From Car.

While seeing the sights of Idlewood Amusement Park last Friday night, Mrs. J. W. Montgomery, of Rib Vista, was thrown from the car on a toboggan side at a height of twenty feet from the ground and sustained painful injuries. Those, who witnessed the accident expected to find Mrs. Montgomery fatally hart, but fortunately her fall was broken by the wooden supports under the slide, and the force of her collision with the ground considerably diminished. Dr. Trice, who has been attending her, expects her to recover completely. Two ribs were broken, her whole side badly bruised, and scarcely any portion of her body escaped wounds as she was buffeted from post to post in her fall.

Constable Thomas A. Davis, of Henson Ward, has entered his protest against the Egyptian darkness that pervades some of the local motion picture theatres during the exhibition of their films. It is not essential to the best display of the pictures, he holds, and puts a premium upon the carfare theatres as meeting places for the young of the species who come often not merely to see the show.

In furtherance of this conviction, Councilman Moore last night introduced in the Common Council an ordinance, the effect of which will be to require operators of motion picture theatres to maintain at all times in their houses a certain degree of light. Many of the higher class theatres have for some time followed a half-light policy as a concession to the demands of social and antivice organizations.

Everybody

Up to a few years ago scant accommodations were provided for women in the banks of the country. Nearly all of the banking was done by men, and little attention was given to special provision for women's accounts. Times are changing, and not only the woman in business, but the wife and the daughter each now has her separate checking account. The change is beneficial, as it gives a new independence to the woman, while teaching her how to transact her own business and how to handle funds to the best advantage. Those women who have been extravagant in their expenditures soon learn how to curtail expenses when they themselves draw the checks in payment of all bills. The popularizing of the Woman's Checking Account is the greatest economical move of this age.
